EXPEDITION GAP YEAR

WHAT IS EXPEDITION GAP YEAR?

Our Expedition Gap Year is a two-pronged program. This is both a career-in-a-box solution to launch the student into the adventure and tourism industry, as well as being a place where people can discover themselves.

This is the gap year run by professional guides. You, the student receive certificates for each course completed.

All the courses offered by Venture Forth and our sister company, Wild Medix, are packed into the Expedition Gap Year program. This means everything from acquiring the skills of outdoor survival, going on technical adventures, learning from wilderness medical courses, to going on expeditions is waiting for you.

Expedition Gap Year has a student residence in the coastal town of Kleinmond, Western Cape, South Africa. Students are welcome to bring their own vehicles, but they will be perfectly fine without them. There is a bus that our staff members drive to transport students to and from adventures, shops and home.

The concept of Expedition Gap Year is to introduce the student through training and lectures to some of the most respected and experienced subject matter experts. These will be adventure guides, paramedics, doctors, business owners, safari guides, search & rescue, survival experts, self defence instructors, psychologists and alumni of the program itself.

THINGS YOU NEED TO KNOW

Expedition Gap Year operates from the coastal town of Kleinmond in the Western Cape province of South Africa. However there is a lot of travelling throughout the country via car, train, plane and boat.

The gap year, whilst incredibly fun, is a serious character and skills development course. It will be hard work, long hours, physically demanding and you will miss your mom.

Whether your intention is to use this program to develop a career in the adventure industry or to simply have a year of adventure, you will be expected to conduct yourself in a professional, disciplined manner.

This program includes accredited qualifications. You can fail these courses. Certification requires commitment, hard work, and study.

You need to commit to the whole program and process. There is a code of conduct you will be asked to sign.

You do not need to be fit to join Expedition Gap Year, but you will become fit as you embark on adventure after adventure, building new skills and creating life-changing memories.

The exposure to industry experts and representatives will not only empower you with the experience they pass on to you, but also give you direct recruitment possibilities — a feature that separates the E.G.Y program from other regular institutions and gap years.

You will share a communal living space with the other students and rotate responsibilities. For example, there will be a cooking team who will prepare breakfast and dinner during week days.

Upon applying for Expedition Gap Year, you will be given three character reference forms to be filled out by:
A family member, a friend, and a teacher or authority figure not related to you.

WHERE DO YOU STAY AND WHAT DO YOU EAT?

The E.G.Y program runs from the coastal town Kleinmond, Western Cape, South Africa. Your accommodation for the year is a shared space with your fellow students which has strict rules, cleaning schedules and staff members who oversee the venue.

The venue's kitchen is equipped with everything you need. Included is a food budget released each week for the team that is cooking.

There is a bed for you, equipped with bedding and pillows.

While staying at the student venue, you and your fellow students will be divided into 4 groups for responsibilities, rotating every week:

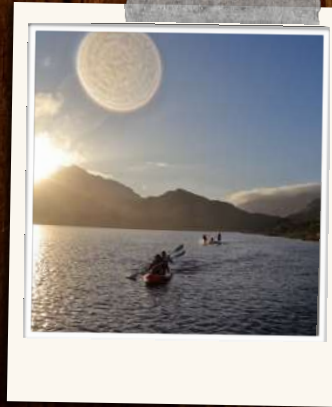

1. Cooking team - responsible for budgeting, planning and preparing breakfast and dinner for the house during weekdays
2. Cleaning team - responsible for making sure all dishes and surfaces are clean for the cooking team, before and after meals
3. Living area team - responsible for ensuring the lounges and outside area are clean and tidy
4. Bathroom team - responsible for the cleanliness of the bathrooms

Each student cleans his or her own room on a weekly basis.

When travelling and on practical exercises, you will mostly camp out on a self-catering basis. Venture Forth will provide suitable tents, mattresses, and cookware.

When on work experiences with actual clients, you will eat with the group and other staff if catering is part of the package.

When at formal lectures, we provide tea, coffee and milk. Sugar is for the weak, but we provide that too.

HOW DO YOU APPLY FOR E.G.Y?

Reading this info pack is the first step.

Step 2: Visit the Expedition Gap Year page on www.ventureforth.co.za to fill in the Application Form. Then complete the character reference form by having three people fill it in: a family member, a friend and an authority figure such as a teacher or coach.
You can also speak to Zane Stathakis who is the coordinator for the program and is happy to meet with you over coffee, video call and Whatsapp.

Zane Stathakis:

Cell: +27 63 308 8867

Email: egy@ventureforth.co.za

Once you have completed the online application form and have chosen your preferred payment option, you will be contacted by Zane and receive the corresponding invoice from egy@ventureforth.co.za

Step 3: Send your proof of payment to egy@ventureforth.co.za with the student's full name as the subject: e.g. Jane Doe PoP.

You will receive a confirmation email and the student will receive an acceptance letter with further details.

Step 4: Communicate with Zane regarding travel arrangements and if you need collection from Cape Town International Airport.

WHO RUNS EXPEDITION GAP YEAR?

Walther Meyer

Zane Stathakis

Walther Meyer, founding partner and managing director of Venture Forth and Wild Medix is the formal lead for Expedition Gap Year.

Walt joined Venture Forth in 1997. He trained in the USA as a technical alpine leader on snow, rock, and ice before returning to SA to run Venture Forth. With over 30 years of personal mountaineering and adventure experience, Walt has climbed and guided in Southern and Eastern Africa, South America, the USA and Canada, and is one of only three people in the country holding all available national qualifications in mountain guiding.

Walt is the most experienced trainer and assessor of adventure guides in South Africa. As a firm believer in the power of adventure, he is actively involved in the development of the adventure guiding and outdoor education industry.

He also spent many years on the road as an active volunteer for the government emergency services in the Western Cape and founded the first wilderness first aid training company in South Africa — Wild Medix.

Zane Stathakis, professional guide, is the full-time co-ordinator for Expedition Gap Year.

Zane was the first Venture Forth student of the guide school program in 2019. He then freelanced across the country in various expeditions and guided trips. Having formally joined Venture Forth in 2022, he now runs the exploration of new routes for existing and developing adventures as well as facilitating various technical adventure courses.

ABOUT VENTURE FORTH INTERNATIONAL

Based in beautiful Cape Town on the southern tip of Africa, Venture Forth was founded in 1994 as a specialised mountain guide service and an accredited mountaineering school.

Using our experience gained in the mountains across the world, we have expanded our adventure portfolio to include services such as corporate team building and youth outdoor education.

We pride ourselves on being a dynamic and professional company with the flexibility to serve our clients' adventure, travel, and training requirements with dedication and enthusiasm.

Whether you want to take a half-day hike up Table Mountain, start rock climbing, or go on a high-altitude expedition, we would like to meet you and make it a reality.

Your safety and enjoyment are our top priorities.

Venture Forth has had a 100% safety record since its inception in 1994, and all our guides, instructors, and facilitators are highly qualified and experienced in their respective fields.

We like to believe that our products are so good because of the passionate and friendly outdoor people who make Venture Forth work. Our permanent and freelance staff all work to the same high standards and together we form a team with diverse skills, broad adventure experience, unequalled ability, and the highest qualifications.

All our guides are Registered Adventure Tourist Guides with the Department of Environmental Affairs & Tourism, and all mountain guides and instructors hold qualifications in mountaineering from CATHSSETA and the SA Mountaineering Development & Training Trust (MDT). Venture Forth guides are all trained in first aid and rescue procedures, and most are qualified emergency care practitioners — providing you with peace of mind on any adventure and for all eventualities.
